

Making the Day

Jeff Black

say good morning
the new world is born the penny falls and you miss your turn you say you're not lucky well how do you know? you're still footing the wheel ain't you? still letting it roll

and it's alright mama
we're just making the day yes it's alright it's alright now
we're just making the day

it tiresome trading on the same old thoughts they cut the highways in so we can't get lost so we cast our line out there until the light turns green just to sit right through it trying to save this thing

and it's alright mama
we're just making the day
well it's alright yes it's alright now
we're just making the day

sweet as candy we let it go around the speed of light and sound breaks down in a word hummingbird

sugar water in the evening sun there's nothing lost out there on my kingdom come there's nothing broken that we can't repair don't want to get tied up in these rules down here

and it's alright mama
we're just making the day
don't worry about it little children roll on
we're just making the day