

Gin & Tonic Sky

Jeff Scott Soto

We can't go on pretending that we never loved before
How many roads, how many rivers do we have to cross?
We can't go on sitting here thinking that we lost
How many roads, how many rivers do we have to cross?

I'm just watching the world go by
I'm easy as a summer breeze in a gin and tonic sky
I'm just watching the world go by
Wishing i was someone else tonigh

We can't go on counting all the ways we could have won
We can't go on thinking about the things we should have done
How many roads, how many rivers do we have to cross?

I'm just watching the world go by
I'm easy as a summer breeze in a gin and tonic sky
I'm just watching the world go by
Wishing i was someone else tonigh

The trees do laugh and mock my face
Where madness starts , i rest in this place
When fools are wise i can't relate
So upon this bed of nails i'm lying on i guess i'll wait