

Love Is A War

Jeremy Renner

Look what's left of each other
Everyone runs for cover
Every time, crossing the lines
Fire in the hole
Whisper a lie, nowhere to hide
Everybody knows
Land mine, front line, we're soldiers
Oh oh oh

When did love become war
Every time we walk through that door
Look what we've done to each other
Everybody here run for cover
When did love become war
Bullets shot through the floor
Let's pull the chute and call it over
This love is a war
War
War
This love is a war

Always waking up to ground zero
And the wake we left is made of rubble
Everyday plans are made
Blow like grenades
Name games, who's to blame
Always ends the same
Land mine, front line, no heroes

When did love become war
Every time we walk through that door
Look what we've done to each other
Everybody here run for cover
When did love become war
Bullets shot through the floor
Let's pull the chute and call it over
This love is a war
War
War
This love is a war

To hit me harder, I feel nothing
And all my armor is vibranium
Every time, crossing the lines
Fire in the hole
Whisper a lie, nowhere to hide
Everybody knows
Hit me harder 'cause I feel nothing

When did love become war
Every time we walk through that door
Look what we've done to each other
Everybody here run for cover
When did love become war
Bullets shot through the floor
Let's pull the chute and call it over
This love is a war

War
War (Look what we've done to each other)
Everybody here run for cover
Love become war
