

Always

Jeremy Riddle

I want to run away, find a place quiet to pray
A place that's lonely where I can find You only

The desolate calls, the wide open space
Where the noises that drown Your voice dim away
And I'm weeping, inundated with love

Always I am waiting, and always anticipating Your love
It's all my heart can think of
Always I am waiting, and wanting to remain in this love
It's all I want to drink of

Come to me, be not far off, give ear to my words and speak back
Your heart
There is nothing I want more than this

Always I am waiting, and always anticipating Your love
It's all my heart can think of
And always I am waiting, and wanting to remain in this love
It's all I want to drink of

Always, always, always waiting for You
I'm always, always waiting for You, waiting for You
