

Dragonborn

Jeris Johnson

Once there was a young boy
A long, long time ago
Destined he would be chosen
For which he did not know

Ran away from his home
Chasing dragons he could never slay
It was etched in stone
The decision he would make

If I take this path
I can't look back again

I fell away from you
But my love was always true
I won't fight it anymore
I am dragonborn
And I can't ignore
The fate that calls me

Once his spirit had spoken
There was nothing anyone could say like
Oh my God! Oh my God!
Do you remember how it felt that day?

It was loud
There was headbanging out in the crowd
Burn it down, burn it down
It was beautiful chaos
The people were one with the sound

If I take this path
I can't look back again

I fell away from you
But my love was always true
I won't fight it anymore
I am dragonborn
And I can't ignore
The fate that calls me

Dragonborn, oh dragonborn
Dragonborn, thy mighty sword
Dragonborn, oh dragonborn
He's the dragonborn