

life is underrated

Jeris Johnson

I'm done wasting your time
Nothing I say will change your mind
Tried showing you the lies
They taught you so well to be blind

But maybe, just maybe
Our hearts were made for breaking
And all of these people
Pretending they're awake and
I pull back the curtain and you chose that
Easier to look back
Than grow knowing the truth
That life is underrated
That's probably why you hate it

I'm done wasting my time
And I can't keep counting sheep all night
Watch all these open minds
Kill anyone who goes outside the lines

You look for demons and goblins
And maybe that's the problem
This ocean between us
I'll never reach the bottom
I pull back the curtain and you chose that
Easier to look back
Than grow knowing the truth
That life is underrated
That's probably why you hate it
Life is underrated
That's probably why you hate it