

This Wedding Day

Jerry Jeff Walker

Now the day has come for you
To tell the world you've found love that's true
And with your friends and family gathered here
To wish you love and give you cheer to you
On your wedding day

There are moments in our lives
We embrace and suddenly we're more alive
And we'll stand witness to the vows you take Support you in the leap of faith that you make
On your wedding day

And we can see true love is written on your face
There is a strength that grows between you everyday
And knowing that true love will walk through life with you
Is a bridge across whatever comes your way

So walk together
Through this life
Sharing every dream you have
As man and wife
Know the good things that this life can bring
Comes wrapped up in that little ring you wear
On your wedding day

We can see true love is written on your face
There is a strength that grows between you everyday
Knowing that true love will walk through life with you
Will be a bridge across whatever comes your way

So walk together
Through this life
Sharing every dream you have
As man and wife
Know the good things this life can bring
Come wrapped up in that little ring you wear
On your wedding day
On your wedding day
This wedding day