

On the Back Row

Jerry Lee Lewis

Here I sit on the back row in a church down the street
Not to far from the place where we used to meet
And to find me getting though to me you found someone to love
But I'll go back to the place that I keep thinking of

It's not a fancy place just a tavern in the lonely part of town
Where lonely people find someone that hopes to settle down
They tell me to go and I can't understand
Here I sit on the back row while you wed another man

You'd never dream but after many years I may still be sitting t here
With just a bottle and two glasses right next to your favorite chair
All alone you might not give him and he might even tell you wro ng
There I'll sit in a tavern waiting for you all alone

It's not a fancy place just a tavern in the lonely part of town
Where lonely people find someone that hopes to settle down
They tell me to go and I can't understand
Here I sit on the back row while you wed another man
