

Blackness

Jeru the Damaja

I am more than my blackness
I am more than my blackness

I am more than my blackness
I am my kindness
I am my creativity
I am my ability to smile in the face of the difficulties thrust upon me by a social system designed to incarcerate my mind, my body, and my soul
I am more than my blackness
I am my compassion
I am my sensitivity
I am the cumulation of every second, minute, hour, day, week, m onth, year, and decade, on this big ball of mud we call the pla net earth
I am more than my blackness
I am my humanity
I am universal oneness, chi, ki, spirit, soul, essence, quintes sence, life force, psyche, aura, god!
I am more than my blackness
And although I am more than my blackness, I love my blackness I revere my blackness, I embrace my blackness, I understand my
blackness
But, I am more than my blackness
I am more than blackness, like you a more than your Whiteness, Asianess, Arabness, or any otherness we decide to make ourselve s that separates us from what we really are
I am more than my blackness
I am a son, a brother, cousin, uncle, nephew, a human being
I am more than my blackness
I am me!
