

Kryptonite

Jesse Labelle

Here we are again, starting a fight
Dancing 'round the room with truth and desire
Try to walk a straight line
And not look behind, as if maybe the distance gets better with time
But I'm looking right at you
And I know that's not true

I'll try keeping tonight as light as can be
But you're my kryptonite and its wearing on me
Starring at me like I've got a hero to be
Watch your eyes slowly turning from blue into green
And I'm no superman
But even with all of my mind
Hard as I wanna try
I can't fight against kryptonite

Enter you the room
And all I can feel is the hold you have on me
And its frighteningly real
You say you're doing well you look pretty as hell
And I'm back where I started I thought I'd broken this spell
But I'm right in front of you and I know that's not true

So, I'll try keeping tonight as light as can be
But you're my kryptonite and its wearing on me
Starring at me like I've got a hero to be
Watch your eyes slowly turning from blue into green
And I'm no superman
But even with all of my mind
Hard as I wanna try
I can't fight against kryptonite

'Cause I'm right in front of you
And its just like the first time
And there's nothing I can do
But tell you that I will try

Keeping tonight as light as can be
But you're my kryptonite and its wearing on me
Starring at me like I've got a hero to be
Watch your eyes slowly turning from blue into green
And I'm no superman
But even with all of my mind
Hard as I wanna try
I can't fight against kryptonite