Looking Up

Jesse Labelle

Looking down, there ain't nothing down there but dirt
Ain't gonna find no answers, no healing for the hurt
Been looking like the sun was never gonna shine again
But today I feel a change riding on the wind

It's looking up, getting better all the time
Little by little the sun is starting to shine
When my faith starts to fade and my strength ain't enough
I know I can find it by looking up

They say a man don't live by bread alone
You gotta have some love and pass it on
When I need a shot of hope to feed my soul
There's just one way to find it that I know

It's looking up, getting better all the time
Little by little the sun is starting to shine
When my faith starts to fade and my strength ain't enough
I know I can find it by looking up, yes I can

It's looking up, getting better all the time
Little by little the sun is starting to shine
When my faith starts to fade and my strength ain't enough
I know I can find it by looking up

It's looking up, getting better all the time
Little by little the sun is starting to shine
When my faith starts to fade and my strength ain't enough
I know I can find it by looking up
