

There She Goes

Jesse Labelle

We sat there in the morning light
And knew it wasn't right
It was over and I guess we both agreed
She took her things out of the car
Never thought it'd go that far
But I knew that it was how it had to be
And as I watched her turn the key

There she goes and no one knows
That I still fell the fire
Watching as she makes her way
Into the great unknown
There she goes and if I tried them
Maybe I could make her stay
But when you love someone
You've gotta let them go
Oh, there she goes

You always knew the way
To get at me that way
You could sneak up on me
And have me every time
I thought you'd have disappeared
Left after all these years
But you still pull the trigger in my mind
And a memory hits my heart inside

There she goes and no one knows
That I still fell the fire
Watching as she makes her way
Into the great unknown
There she goes and if I tried them
Maybe I could make her stay
But when you love someone
You've gotta let them go
Oh, there she goes

If I could travel back in time
And do things a different way
I'd have held you a little longer
Before you got away

There she goes and no one knows
That I still fell the fire
Watching as she makes her way
Into the great unknown
There she goes and if I tried them
Maybe I could make her stay
But when you love someone
You've gotta let them go
Oh, there she goes