

Soul

Jesse McCartney

There's cracks in the pavement, the whole town is waiting
For someone to fix it, you'd rather walk in the street
You dance to your own beat
There's something inside you, that keeps you reminded
There's only one life so you give them a front row seat
While you dance to your own beat

Be yourself, baby don't be scared
Dance with me like there's no one there
Do your nails, you can do your hair
But keep your soul, 'cause your soul is rare
I know the world might be watching you, watching you
You should know that there's nobody stopping you, no no no no

You don't, you don't ever need to give in just to fit in, in the world
You don't, you don't ever need to give in just to get what you deserve
Oh baby do your nails, you can do your hair
But keep your soul, 'cause your soul is rare
So you don't have to give in, give in, your soul is yours

Walking with smile, disguised as a child
Who still feels afraid of what everyone wants her to be
You stand on your own feet
The clothes that you're wearing might keep people staring
But all that see is the heart that beats underneath
While you stand on your own feet

Be yourself, baby don't be scared
Dance with me like there's no one there
Do your nails, you can do your hair
But keep your soul, 'cause your soul is rare
I know the world might be watching you, watching you
You should know that there's nobody stopping you, no no no no

You don't, you don't ever need to give in just to fit in, in the world
You don't, you don't ever need to give in just to get what you deserve
Oh baby do your nails, you can do your hair
But keep your soul, 'cause your soul is rare
So you don't have to give in, give in, your soul is-

Cuz you dance to your own beat
You stand on your own feet
And you star on your own screen

You don't, you don't ever need to give in just to fit in, in the world
You don't, you don't ever need to give in just to get what you deserve

Oh baby do your nails, you can do your hair
But keep your soul, 'cause your soul is rare
So you don't have to give in, give in, your soul is yours
