

Consider Me

Jessi Colter

[Verse]

Consider me I'm kneeling at your feet
If you were standing here I would not move
My tears would fall like rain and they'd heal all your pain
I lay it down consider me
He was the only one you chose to call your son
There was no room for him in homes or hearts of men
He died a lonely man he was the only one
I walked right through your door not knowing any more
That I was ready for his gentle ways
His gentle hand would lead and I would call his name
And he does comfort me all the way

[Outro]

Consider me I'm kneeling at your feet
