JESSIA

I was bleeding in your car
Thought I ruined our third date
Then you pulled over and got me
Napkins and a Gatorade
Told you about my mom and dad
How they always tried their best
But they thought me that relationships were never meant to last
But you filled my glass and you figured me out
I'm not that bad once you break it all down
And you held my words
I'm spilling it out
Is this where I'm going now

I was getting kind of used to me
Being a freak
Accepting the fact that nobody could love me
But somehow
Somehow somehow
You do
And I was getting kind of used to love always letting me down
Never could trust when they say stick around
But somehow
Somehow somehow
I do
When it comes to you
When it comes to you

You came from nothing just like me
Your brothers shirt
My cousins jeans
Grew up across the world
But it feels like you were next to me
Gave me permission to be real
You made it safe for me to feel
'Cause the ones before you made me think that I was too much
But you filled my glass and you figured me out
I'm not that bad once you break it all down
And you held my words
I'm spilling it out
Is this where I'm going now

I was getting kind of used to me
Being a freak
Accepting the fact that nobody could love me
But somehow
Somehow somehow
You do
And I was getting kind of used to love always letting me down
Never could trust when they say stick around
But somehow
Somehow somehow
I do
When it comes to you
When it comes to you

When it comes to you
