

Everything To Me

Jessie Farrell

If I wrote every single word down every single day
I might come close to telling you all the things I wanna say
The sky's so full of stars tonight and this is all so real
I just want you to know this is how I feel

You're everything I want and everything I need
You're more than enough to satisfy me
You don't have to give me anything else
You're everything I want and need
You're everything to me
Everything to me

Street lights come on when it's dark out
And the air smells like rain 'cause the storm's about to start
The way that the wind blows through the trees
And the way that I feel when you look at me

You're everything I want and everything I need
You're more than enough to satisfy me
You don't have to give me anything else
You're everything I want

I used to think that needing you meant I was weak
I can't imagine life without you now and being complete
Loving you with every piece of me
Is a promise I will always keep

You're everything I want and everything I need
You're more than enough to satisfy me
You don't have to give me anything else
You're everything I want

You're everything I want and everything I need
You're more than enough to satisfy me
You don't have to give me anything else
You're everything I want and need
You're everything to me
You're everything to me
You're everything to me
You're everything to me
