

WORTH SAVING

Jessie Reyez

Now a days everything's different
Everybody cheats nobody listens
Everybody hits nobody misses
Everybody scared nobody risks it

You trying to leave while you can, before I get too sad
Convince ya to take me back, convince ya that I'm not that bad

And that I might be worth saving
When you come back I might not be here waiting
Yeah, didn't you say that your mama liked me
Likely there ain't gonna be one like me
So maybe I might just be worth saving
So don't let me go so easy

Don't let me go so easy
Don't let me go so easy
Don't let me go so easy
Don't let me go so

So much distance
Lost ones with no religion
Miracles just cheap magicians
Judge me with no forgiveness

You trying to leave while you can
Before I get too sad
Convince ya to take me back
Convince ya that I'm not that bad

And that I might be worth saving
When you come back I might not be here waiting
Yeah, didn't you say that your mama liked me
Likely there ain't gonna be one like me
So maybe I just might be worth saving
So don't let me go so easy

I'm not the easiest, I'm not the easiest
To be real I don't blame you for leaving me
All my friends they hate your guts
I'm here defending all you've done
I'm not the easiest, I'm not the easiest
I don't even blame your dumb ass for leaving me
All my friends they hate your guts
I'm here defending all you've done
But before you go, baby you should know that

I might be worth saving
When you come back I might not be here waiting
Yeah, didn't you say that your mama liked me
Likely there ain't gonna be one like me
So maybe I just might be worth saving
So don't let me go so easy