

Don't Believe It

Jesus Jones

You came at the right time
Filled the right space
And ever since then
I've never seen your true face
You and me, what do we know
Of each other, aah?

You're a cartoon, the butt of bad jokes
Every picture of you seems, out of focus
You're evil personified, come to avenge
Our perfect enemy, out for revenge
You and me, what do we know
Of each other, aah?

I, I, I don't believe in it
I don't believe it
I, I, I don't believe it
There's nothing here that seems to fit

There's no doubt, what you did was wrong
You'll get no excuse in this song
But after an eye makes no sense to me
The state of us now is this how it'll always be?
You and me, what do we know
Of each other, aah?

I, I, I don't believe in it
I don't believe it
I, I, I don't believe it
There's nothing here that seems to fit

Who does it serve?
To believe in every word you heard
Hear without listening
Look without seeing

You came at the right time
Filled the right space
And ever since then
I've never seen your true face
You and me, what do we know
Of each other, aah?

I, I, I don't believe in it
I don't believe it
I, I, I don't believe it
There's nothing here that seems to fit

I, I, I don't believe in it
I don't believe it
I, I, I don't believe it
There's nothing here that seems to fit
Nothing seems to fit
