

...And the Mouse Police Never Sleeps

Jethro Tull

Muscled, black with steel-green eye swishing through the rye grass with thoughts of mouse-and-apple pie.
Tail balancing at half-mast.
...And the mouse police never sleeps --- lying in the cherry tree.
Savage bed foot-warmer of purest feline ancestry.
Look out, little furry folk!
He's the all-night working cat.
Eats but one in every ten --- leaves the others on the mat.
...And the mouse police never sleeps --- waiting by the cellar door.
Window-box town crier;
birth and death registrar.
With claws that rake a furrow red --- licensed to mutilate.
From warm milk on a lazy day to dawn patrol on hungry hate.
...No, the mouse police never sleeps --- climbing on the ivy.
Windy roof-top weathercock.
Warm-blooded night on a cold tile.
