

Same Mistakes

Jez Dior

I keep on making all the same mistakes
It's probably better that you walked away
And I'm feeling like day by day, it gets worse
It never stops to hurt
I keep on making all the same mistakes
It's probably better that you walked away
And I'm feeling like day by day it gets worse
It never stops to hurt
Ain't no other city in the world like LA
Four million people, but no one has got a real name
I lost sight of myself when I got a little fame
I wish someone told me the spotlight was gonna kill me
You know there's nothing that anybody could tell me
In a land full of fakes and I lost the real thing
I'm at the bottom and trying to get to my feelings
I wish someone told me the spotlight was gonna kill me
All my sins are catching up and I can't see the end
I keep on making all the same mistakes
It's probably better that you walked away
And I'm feeling like day by day, it gets worse
It never stops to hurt
I keep on making all the same mistakes
It's probably better that you walked away
And I'm feeling like day by day it gets worse
It never stops to hurt
I just set fire to our love again
Burn it all down as a punishment
I don't think that I wanna keep living
Life without you is like a life in prison
Know you got room in your heart to forgive this
I ain't got an alibi and I ain't got a witness
I just feel it changing me lately
So you know it kills me that you hate me
All my sins are catching up and I can't see the end
I keep on making all the same mistakes
It's probably better that you walked away
And I'm feeling like day by day, it gets worse
It never stops to hurt
I keep on making all the same mistakes
It's probably better that you walked away
And I'm feeling like day by day it gets worse
It never stops to hurt