

Starts Again

Jez Dior

You can't repair what's broken
Scratch the surface of something
Something leads to nothing
And it starts again
Starts again
Starts again [echo]
You can't repair what's broken
Scratch the surface of something
Something leads to nothing
And it starts again
Starts again
Starts again [echo]

Do you hold my breath for me?
'Cause you ain't giving me no air now
And the wall I built up, wasn't something I expected you to tear down
Sticks and stones may break my bones, but your words still hurt me worse
No harmony at home and it's hard for me, though
I just hope you love me first, before you hated me
I was hoping there wouldn't be no hope lost
All this screaming has really got my throat raw Everything is broken, and you don't know what honest is How the fuck can I piece together your promises?
Pieces of love, guess we never got to mend
Started friend, then a lover, then I hate you, then it ends
And it starts again. Repeat, then it starts again

You can't repair what's broken
Scratch the surface of something
Something leads to nothing
And it starts again
Starts again
Starts again [echo]
You can't repair what's broken
Scratch the surface of something
Something leads to nothing
And it starts again
Starts again
Starts again [echo]

I know that you don't want me too
Don't want me to breathe no more
So I fucked around, it tied me up
And now, I can't see no more
Hope no one comes in now
Or forever on that thought
I leave this record on so I can tell you guys that there's a note in my back pocket
Surrounded by candles, ironic, I didn't blow them out this time
It was a slow fall, baby
It started the second you put your mouth on mine
I love it so much
And it got me so high that I couldn't come down
Well, look at me now if you can dare see my feet hang above ground

You can't repair what's broken
Scratch the surface of something

Something leads to nothing
And it starts again
Starts again
Starts again [echo]
You can't repair what's broken
Scratch the surface of something
Something leads to nothing
And it starts again
Starts again
Starts again [echo]

Starts again
Starts again
Starts again