

BIG SHOT, think you're a big shot
I think you're raveled up in a tangle of did-nots
You're always just a bit shy, following behind
I think you've spent enough time singing the same lines
Big talk, big shot, think you're a big shot
I think you're raveled up in a tangle of did-nots
You keep on freezing (UP!) while the iron is still hot
The phone is hanging (UP!), but you're still in the same spot

Yeah it's not fair, I know it's not fair
You ain't the only star that's been left for dead
I asked about your name on the moon, it was quiet, nobody knew you
Aim like an atom who swears it's going to shoot you

Are you the only one-of-one to be found?
If you could see the rest, would it bring you back down?

You're no big shot, think you're a big shot
I think you're raveled up in a tangle of did-nots
You're always just a bit shy, following behind
I think you've spent enough time singing the same lines
Big talk, big shot, think you're a big shot
I think you're raveled up in a tangle of did-nots
You keep on freezing (UP!) while the iron is still hot
The phone is hanging (UP!), but you're still in the same spot

Save me, somebody save me
I'm screaming for a life that I cannot have
I need to know if someone out there's listening
How come they don't ever call back to me?
Will I ever know you're close or die waiting for your attention

Big shot, think you're a big shot
I think you're raveled up in a tangle of did-nots
You're always just a bit shy, following behind
I think you've spent enough time singing the same lines
(Big talk, big shot, think you're a big shot)
(I think you're raveled) In a tangle of did-nots
You keep on freezing while the iron is still hot
The phone is hanging, but you're still in the same spot
