

The Least That She Deserves

Jill Barber

Give her all your love
Not only just a part
But all the love that you can find
Deep within your heart

Show her she's the only one
In your actions and your words
For all the love you have to give
Is the least that she deserves

Give her all your love
More than she's ever seen
Quit these old charades
And make her your queen

For it's only foolish luck
This hand that you've been served
For all the love you have to give
Is the least that she deserves

One thing's for sure
There'll always be another man
To walk on and fill these boots
Much better than you can

So give her all your love
And empty your reserves
For all the love you have to give
Is the least that she deserves

Give her all your love
And empty your reserves
For all the love you have to give
Is the least that she deserves
The least that she deserves
The least that she deserves
The least that she deserves
