

A Woman Knows

Jill Johnson

You've stared out the window for an hour now I ask what's wrong, you turn away You say, nothing, it's nothing But it's something, something you don't want to say

A woman knows in her heart when something's wrong
a woman knows when someone stays but love is gone
when it's hangin' by a thread, 'bout to let go a woman knows, a woman knows

You're saying nothing, well that says it all I've tried to reach you for days I won't live a lie, pretending you and I can be saved, so just walk away

A woman knows in her heart when
something's wrong
a woman knows when someone stays
but love is gone
when it's hangin' by a thread, 'bout to let go
a woman knows, a woman knows

You could've been strong, but no You wouldn't let truth be told You had to let it all fall on me

A woman knows in her heart when
something's wrong
but love is gone
when it's hangin' by a thread, 'bout to let go
