

Tornado Boy

Jillian Rossi

I know I shouldn't talk to you the writing's on the wall
You know the one you try to break down everytime you call
Oh no, I start to fall way down your twisted rabbit hole
And I can't get up

And God, you're such a wreck it almost makes me wanna die
Cause I know there's a storm a-brewing every single night
You want back in my life, you bring the rain, you bring the high
And I get caught up

Woah, I was doing fine, doing great before ya
Now I'm all alone fixing shit you tore up
Stay where you are, baby don't step forward
I can't have this weather, no

You swept me off of my feet and you spun me around
You took my damn life, threw it all on the ground
I had a loving home, now I need a new house
You were a tornado boy

I know I shouldn't talk to you, your words they make me weak
The ones that we try not to say like every time we speak
Oh, you turn me to a freak, you make a monster out of me
My God, you're not making this easy

I hate that you did me this way, you blew me away
My mind's going places it shouldn't be
And the red flags wave, but you whisp them away
Like nothing's wrong and skies aren't grey

Woah, I was doing fine, doing great before ya
Now I'm all alone fixing shit you tore up
Stay where you are, baby don't step forward
I can't have this weather, no

You swept me off of my feet and you spun me around
You took my damn life, threw it all on the ground
I had a loving home, now I need a new house
You were a tornado boy

You brought the wind to me again, threw it all in my face
And I tried to run away fast, but you live for the chasing
I had a loving home, now I need to replace it
You were a tornado boy

Woah, I was doing fine, doing great before ya
Came into my world and you made it poor, so
Stay where you are, baby don't step forward
I can't have this weather out in California (Oh)

You swept me off of my feet and you spun me around
You took my damn life, threw it all on the ground
I had a loving home, now I need a new house
You were a tornado boy

You brought the wind to me again, threw it all in my face
And I tried to run away fast, but you live for the chasing

I had a loving home, now I need to replace it
You were a tornado boy

I hate that you did me this way, you blew me away
My mind's going places it shouldn't be
Hate that you did me this way, you blew me away, oh woah no

Stay where you are, don't step forward
I can't have this weather out in California
