

Christmas Is

Jim Brickman

Fireside and winter snow
Lights are on the tree
The world is all aglow again
With all the season brings
And though it comes around each year
The meaning of the season
Sometimes disappears
Oh it's good to be reminded

Christmas is for girls and boys
Trimming trees and Santa's toys
It's Mom and Dad and Gram and Grandpa, too
Christmas is a sacred birth
A chance for home and
Peace on earth
It's everything that we hold dear and true
But most of all
Christmas is the love that lives inside of me and you

Sleepy eyes are open wide and tiny hearts beat fast
To celebrate the morning
Just like every Christmas past
We gather close to family
Embracing all that's been
And all that's yet to be
Oh it's good to be reminded

Christmas is the candlelight
Jingle bells and silent night
Friends from long ago
And friends we've made anew

Christmas is a sacred birth
A chance for hope and peace on earth
It's everything that we hold dear and true
But most of all Christmas is the love that lives inside of me and you

From where it all began
One night in Bethlehem
It reaches out to all of us
Reminds us once again

Christmas is for everyone
The greatest gift of the Father's love
The star that shines on all the world
The light that leads us through

Christmas is a sacred birth
A chance for hope and peace on earth
It's everything that we hold dear and true
Oh, but most of all Christmas is love that lives inside of me and you
