

Torn

Jim Cuddy

Say goodbye
We do it all the time now
Angry words that we say at night
Disappear in the morning light

Stars above
Are they looking down on us
Guiding us through the darkest night
Weaving in and out
Of wrong and right

Torn
I'm not torn
I know the road is long
And I'm not torn

Used to be
You walked with eyes wide open
More and more
These days I find
First sign of trouble
And you run and hide

Torn
I'm not torn
I know the road is long
And I'm not torn

You know I can lose my head
And I don't even see the clouds
Maybe the darkness is coming
But I'm still waiting
I'm still waiting

Cold as ice
That's how the world
Seems sometimes
Changes come
No matter what you do
Leaves you nothing
You can hold on to

Close your eyes
Fall back to the world inside you
You don't like
All the things you see
But you're just one step
From where you want to be

Torn
I'm not torn
I know the road is long
But I'm not torn

I'm not torn
I know the road is long
Yes it goes on and on

I know the road is long
But I'm not torn
