

Back to the End of the World

Jim James

Let's go back to the end of the world
Back to the moment the eggs fell
And we were born again
Let's go back to the close of the day
Back to our home and the way we were
When love was all around

We know they know
One can never go back
I know that you know it's so
But you still live in the past

Let's go back to end of the world
Back to the end of an era
A dawn of a new golden age
Let's go back to the morning we woke up
The moment we shook off our slumber
Rested and wide awake

We know they know
One should never go back
I know that you know it's so
Why do you dwell on the past?
A new day has come at last
A new day has come at last
A new day has come at last