

There's That Smile Again

Jim Reeves

There's that smile again
The one I always see
Each time you foul and then
Step out on me

It's that same old smile
That caused my heart to ache
Made it cry a while
Then finally break

I know, I shouldn't care
About the things you do
But when you're out somewhere
I feel so blue

I only hope and pray
That you'll come back and then
I'll never have to say
There's that smile again

I know I shouldn't care
About the things you do
But when you're out somewhere
I feel so blue

I only hope and pray
That you'll come back and then
I'll never have to say
There's that smile again
