

Plain As Your Eyes Can See

Jim Sullivan

I have decided
Apart from you as company
Everything I have is borrowed
And you could to give it all to me

I started thinking
About those voices in the crowd
Words that started with a whisper
It seems they've gotten all too loud

Yes it finally got to me and so
It's doubtful that I'll ever be
Someone that you love
Plain as your eyes can see

Read what the sides say
Fallen rocks are on the road
The bridge is out you'd better drive slow
I guess there's no place left to go

Yes it finally got to me and so
It's doubtful that I'll ever be
Someone that you love
Plain as your eyes can see