

I'm Coming Home

Jimmy Barnes

I'm coming home
I never thought I'd make it back
Felt I was swallowed by the ground
That opened up and cracked
But I guess I'm standing here
The red dirt underneath my feet
I've travelled far, I've travelled wide
I'm coming home

Saw you last time through the window
Of a strangers car
Then you sped off down the road
I wonder where you are
The day you left I thought I'd die
I've still got teardrops in my eyes
But I'm standing on my feet
I'm coming home

I'm coming home
To the only place that I belong
I'm coming home
It's time to right the things that I've done wrong
I've been all around the world
Still so much I have to purge
Get it out before I go
I'm coming home

If it doesn't kill you
It might make you a stronger man
I see the empty words goodbye
There on that telegram
The pain has stood the test of time
And every night I knelt and cried
But I am stronger on my own
I'm coming home

I'm coming home
To the only place that I belong
I'm coming home
It's time to right the things that I've done wrong
I've been all around the world
Still so much I have to purge
Get it out before I go
I'm coming home

I'm coming home
To the only place that's left for me
I'm coming home
And feel the red dirt underneath my feet
I've travelled all around the world
Still so much I have to purge
Get it out before I go
I'm coming home
I've travelled far I've travelled wide
I'm coming home
I'm coming home
I'm coming home

I'm coming home
