

Kick It In Second Wind

Jimmy Buffett

One o'clock in mornin'
People pilin' in through the door
Drinks are still comin' and I'm barely hummin'
And the audience is screamin' for more

Somebody's locked in the bathroom
Manager can't find the key
I pity that man, but from where I stand
It's lookin' like the prisoner is me

So won't you kick it in now, second wind
We got two more hours to go
Losin' anymore hope of scorin' anymore coke
And we still got to do another show

My mind started to wander
In the middle of my second song
Dreamin' I was at sea, just my baby and me
When the words started comin' out wrong

Waitresses are pickin' up glasses
The bartenders scream last call
When I looked to my right, I saw a terrible sight
As the bass man took a bad fall

So won't you kick it in now, second wind
We got two more hours to go
Losin' anymore hope of scorin' anymore coke
And we still gotta do another show

It's three o'clock in the mornin'
I'm runnin' on adrenaline
What I'm tryin' to say is that tomorrow's today
And we got to do it over again

So won't you kick it in now, second wind
We got two more hours to go
Losin' anymore hope of snortin' anymore coke
And we still got to do another show

Got to do another show
I got to do another show
Got to do another show
Got to do another show
