Old Town Hall

Jimmy Fallon

Yeah I'm gonna talk to voters at the old town hall
I'm gonna tell 'em we don't need no wall
I'm gonna rant and rave about billionaires
Ain't gonna take a break to comb my hair

I got money in the stacks, forget your super pacs
Bernie Bros and back, you would think this is a frat now
Got a chance to see Mayor Pete's ID
We're both born in '83 but in different centuries

Everybody's asking something
But I can't hear nothing
Everybody's asking something
But I can't hear nothing

Got a few frustrations with these corporations
You can call me grandpa, I'mma spank the nation
Loved by all the children, worth a couple million
Say my rhymes are ill then medicare will bill them

Everybody's asking something
But I can't hear nothing

Biden, Beto, Kamala and Klobuchar
Add up all their ages, he's still older by far
We've got a decision and the field is getting crowded
But just don't forget Bernie Sanders is the loudest
Here to win when we vote next year
(Whatever Snapchat is, that's my biggest fear)
So we gon' roll on down to that old town hall
We're gonna see a geriatric brawl

I'm gonna talk to voters at the old town hall
I'm gonna tell 'em I don't need no wall
(He's gonna talk to voters at the old town hall)
(He's gonna tell 'em we don't need no wall)
I'm gonna yell at the voters at the old town hall
I'm gonna yell 'til I can't no more
I'm gonna yell at the voters at the old town hall
I'm gonna tell 'em we don't need no wall
