

Arrows

Jimmy Needham

I see You hiding there
Behind the orphan's stare
Every time I breathe the air
There's no denying
From the oceans wide
To the star-filled sky
To my baby's cry
Oh, You're everywhere
There's nowhere I go
Your glory isn't revealed
I just look up and see it
Everywhere I go I see arrows
Pointing the way back to You
Everything I see grabs a hold of me
Leading me straight back to You
Maybe Plato's right
There is more than meets the eye
What I witness with my eyes
Tells a bigger story
Like the serpent on the staff
Like the ark that Noah had
You're painting pictures that, oh
Echo Your glory
When Moses struck the rock
The secret was spilled
'Cause the spring is Jesus
Make me an arrow
Put me in Your bow, pull back and let go
And send me wherever You want me to go
I'll be Your shadow, You lead I'll follow You
Everywhere I go I'm an arrow
Leading the way back to You
In pleasure or in pain, just like sunshine and rain
I'll be an arrow for You, I will follow You
