

Disclosure!

Jinjer

Disclosure
You wanna stake me out
We're taking
Another round

So here I am in a chair
Not fully understanding what I'm doing here
As I see a tall man in front of me
"Well, hello, tall man
What does your job entail?"

(Yeah) I jumped out of TV
(Yeah) I'm here to spread the disease
I'll put us up on a screen
Don't you dare to disagree with me

Disclosure
You wanna stake me out
We're taking
Another round

You say you follow me but indeed
You put a tail on me
Like a snoop gets the wind of my feet
And everywhere I've been
What I do, where I go, what I say, what I don't Get a life of your own, get a life of your own

Come on, let's play this mind game
If you really feel no goddamn shame

Such an artless performance of a crude brain
In an awkward dance
Of the brainwashed and the sane
Follow me, follow me, follow me
Don't bother me, don't bother me
Follow me, follow me, follow me
Don't bother me, don't bother me

Come on, let's play this mind game
If you really feel no goddamn shame

What a shameless theater
In front of a camera
A playful enthusiast
But he got no stamina
If knowledge is power
Then ignorance devoured you
Your mind is as shallow
As a puddle on a hot summer day

Disclosure
You wanna stake me out
We're taking
Another fucking round
Disclosure, yeah

We try to glue this world together
But you say this scorn shall live forever
You're good, them bad
Since when to hate a man is a fate of a saint?
Is a fate of a saint, is a fate of a saint
Is a fate of a saint, is a fate of a saint