

Everything Is A Song

JJ Grey & Mofro

I, I just heard those angels sang
So many voices, all arranged
In one big harmony
So now, everywhere I look, I smile
Is like I'm hearing for the first time
Oh, they're singing to me

Now I'm rolling in an old street singing with me
Every bit of glass from every dream
The world it came alive with the color of spring
Got me singing long
'Cause everything is A song
Everything is A song

I look forever out into the sky
I hear the hue blew so loud
A seashell for my ear
All the joy, the joy, the joy
The joy with no opposite
It's?
That I done finally hear

Now I'm rolling in an old street singing with me
Every bit of glass from every dream
The world it came alive with the color of spring
Got me singing long
'Cause everything is A song
Know I ain't about to hear a thing to take me away
From this day
I've been waiting for this moment
All of my life, all of my, all of my life

So listen, listen to the falling rain
The sweet of sound the sugar cane
A symphony for me
Oh, I pray, I pray, I pray
I pray that you can hear it too
In the silence that's surrounding you
I'll meet you there, oh yeah!

Now I'm rolling in an old street singing with me
Every bit of glass from every dream
Whisper to a should loud and deep as the sea
Got me singing long
'Cause everything is A song
I can hear the birds all singing the song
I can hear the words that I never heard
I'm gonna sing along to the wind on my own
Singing along
Everything is A song
