

Always

JJ Heller

You are the answer to the prayers I prayed
And the hope in childhood games I played
Pushing baby dolls in strollers
And dreaming of who you would be

You are the news I celebrated
That little blue line exclamation
Got me dancing in my bare feet
And I couldn't help but sing

You will always be my baby
You will always have my love
I will always, always be your mother
Always

You are the reason I was holding on
Somehow I knew you were already gone
So many questions without answers
'Cause only God knows why

Now I think I've cried a million tears
For all the laughter we will never hear
We lost you in the silence
Before you had a chance to cry

You will always be my baby
You will always have my love
I will always, always be your mother
Always

And I would give anything
To hold you in my arms
But while you're away from me
I'll hold you in my heart
You're forever in my heart

You will always be my baby
You will always have my love
I will always, always be your mother
You will always be my baby
You will always have my love
I will always, always be your mother
Always, always
Always
