Silence

JJ Heller

The path in your head
Is worn with sorrow and dread
It’s always the same dead end
The need to be safe
Keeps you awake
It’s always just out of reach

When the dark presses in like a landslide
And you don’t really know what to do
When the world is beyond understanding
I will sit in the silence with you

Everyone hurts
But some dreams have to die in the dirt
Before they can live again

When the dark presses in like a landslide
And you don’t really know what to do
When the world is beyond understanding
I will sit in the silence with you
