

Perfect Stranger

JJ Wilde

Hello perfect stranger, I met you after dark
It only took one look at you, to know that you would break my heart
So I dove in head first
To a shallow and empty pool
Giving up the best parts of me
To be something for you

Now I'm taking control, and I'm feeling it all
No Hell and back wont even come close
To this kind of fall
But the hurt will grow cold
And the fire will die
And then all that's left of us is just a beautiful goodbye
Perfect strangers, perfect strangers
Perfect strangers

How can you grieve
Something that was never really there
Your the ghost that I cant talk to
Your the chill in the air
If I was meant to hold you
Then you wouldn't have let me go
And if I was meant to stay still
Then this heart wouldn't be whole

Now I'm taking control, and I'm feeling it all
No Hell and back wont even come close
To this kind of fall
But the hurt will grow cold
And the fire will die
And then all that's left of us is just a beautiful goodbye
Perfect strangers, perfect strangers
Perfect strangers