JJ72

passing by a frozen fountain in a german town looking for a place to sit so i can melt this crown looking for a place to sit so i can buy some time i am the spider living on a window payne looking at the roads and cars in the silver rain looking for a place to sit can buy some time that's when i lost my brains in the shallow snow too young to leave but too old to grow so i stole my soul from the radio too young to leave and i need to know she was above me

passing by a frozen fountain in a german town looking for a place to sit so i can melt this frown
looking for a place to sit so i can buy some time

so i stole my soul from the radio

above above above
you know she was above above above
?????
down down down to the ground
