Close To You

London, Paris, Tokyo Thinkin' of you wherever I go When I close my eyes You're by my side A thousand miles can't keep us apart You're tender words serenade my heart And you keep me smiling, perfect timing I wish that you were here with me tonight

See I travelled all around the world now And I've seen so many beautiful girls now But somehow, no one ever comes close to you You know I've been so many different places And I've seen so many pretty faces But baby, no one ever comes close to you Close to you, close to you

Planes and trains through sudden rain Another hotel another daybreak And I'm on my way I called to say I wish that you were here with me tonight

See I travelled around the world now And I've seen so many beautiful girls now But somehow, no one ever comes close to you You know I've been so many different places And I've seen so many pretty faces But baby, no one ever comes close to you Close to you, close to you

And it feels like You are always with me On these long nights Another lonely city You are right here, right now Cause in my mind I never left at all Never left at all

See I travelled around the world now And I've seen so many beautiful girls now But somehow, no one ever comes close to you You know I've been so many different places And I've seen so many pretty faces But baby, no one ever comes close to you

See I travelled around the world now And I've seen so many beautiful girls now But somehow, no one ever comes close to you You know I've been so many different places And I've seen so many pretty faces But baby, no one ever comes close to you Close to you, close to you
