

Midnight Without You

Joe Cocker

Look at the cars, going nowhere fast
They disappear like you
Stars are falling, the time is changing
To midnight without you

So I walk out, the streets and alleys round here
The taxi's heading on uptown again
Right to the station where people stand waiting
And every night I know, the cost of letting go

Is midnight without you, yeah
Stars are falling, the time is changing
To midnight without you

Look at the cars, going nowhere fast
They disappear like you
Stars are falling, the time is changing
To midnight without you

Oh yeah, midnight without you
Oh no, to midnight without you

It's going to be midnight without you
Midnight without you

I'll change the clock on the wall
This midnight, midnight without you
Midnight without you
Midnight without you
