

Rainin' On Her Rubber Dolly

Joe Diffie

It's rainin' on her rubber dolly now
It's too late to take it in the house
It looks so sad somehow, layin' out there on the ground
It's rainin' on her rubber dolly now

She used to laugh and play out in the sunshine
It was plain to see she loved her doll so
But then a storm rode in out of the blue sky
And swiftly tore apart our happy home

It's rainin' on her rubber dolly now
It's too late to take it in the house
It looks so sad somehow, layin' out there on the ground
It's rainin' on her rubber dolly now

She said, "Daddy, put my toys up in the toy box

And I'll come back to play again someday"
But she was cryin' and wavin' out the window
And knowin' how her little heart did break

It's rainin' on her rubber dolly now
Now the tears are really comin' down
Did my best not to cry when her mommy said goodbye
It's rainin' on her rubber dolly now

It's rainin' on her rubber dolly now
It's too late to take it in the house
It looks so sad somehow, layin' out there on the ground
It's rainin' on her rubber dolly now

Did my best not to cry when her mommy said goodbye
It's rainin' on her rubber dolly now
