

Satellite

Joe Jackson

I remember lying wide awake at night
Had to have you at my side to make it right
You were my high and low
You taught me to fly
And I would always be your satellite

I remember floating free of appetite
Hanging high upon a breeze just like a kite
You were my pride and joy
And my suicide
And I would always be your satellite

You keep on spinning till you start to slow
Gravity is gonna get you someday
Like a swimmer in the undertow
When the water's gonna take you under

I remember giving in without a fight
Just so you could be my sin and my delight
You were my girl and boy
You were the world
And I would always be your satellite

You keep on spinning till you start to slow
Gravity is gonna get you someday
Like a swimmer in the undertow
When the water's gonna take you under
