

One Fool to Another

Joe South

So you left her
All alone
And you broke her poor heart
And she's cried every day
That you've been apart
This advice I give like a brother
And this is one fool to another

You have searched
High and low
For a love that is true
You'll come back, she'll be gone
And I'm tellin' you
You'll be sorry she finds some other
And this is one fool to another

For I remember how I once had a love
Just like your own
And I-I played the fool that's plain to see
But you still have a chance now
To apologize
And I wish that I could say the same for me

Oh, turn around
Hurry now
There is no time to wait
For you there is Heaven
For me it's too late
This advice I give like a brother
And this is one fool to another

Oh, turn around
Hurry now
There is no time to wait
For you there is Heaven
For me it's too late
This advice I give like a brother
And this is one fool to another
