

Alright

Joel Faviere

We both woke up, alone.
In the night, so cold.
It was I, wishing you were by my side.
Well I confess,
I'm a fool.
Such a mess,
here as I sit and try not to break down.
Guess I'll keep dreamin'

I can't bare to live a life.
Without you by my side.
Tell me, am I alive?
Can I confide?
You said we would survive.
Yeah right, you're only telling lies.
Why am I surprised, that I'm not alright?

I built this heart of stone.
In the night alone.
What a life, right?
Missing what was never even mine.
Just confess, you're lustful.
Half a mess, enough though.
As I sit here smiling soft, guess I'll keep dreamin'

I can't bare to live a life.
Without you by my side.
Tell me, am I alive?
Can I confide?
You said we would survive.
Yeah right, you're only telling lies.
Why am I surprised, that I'm not alright?

I guess you're like a storm,
Pouring on to shore.
Listening is something I perfected on the floor.
I'm cashing in my chords, cutting off my tongue.
This poison has to love me more than you ever could.

I can't bare to live a life.
Without you by my side.
Tell me, am I alive?
Can I confide?
You said we would survive.
Yeah right, you're only telling lies.
Why am I surprised, that I'm not alright?