

It's Been A Little Heavy Lately

Joeseef

Where'd you go?
I just want to look in your eyes
Caught up in your fever dream
The hate between us making me high
Where'd you go?
All I got is you on my mind
I'm coming up easy
Don't care if she sees me
I need you tonight

You know I've been fucked up, crazy
It's been a little heavy lately
But you're the only one who could save me
I know that isn't fair, I know that isn't fair
Why is it my heart is open
Only when the red light's glowing?
But I'll be yours until the morning
I know that isn't fair, I know that isn't fair

Where'd you go?
I've been looking for you all night
Kissing in the alley way
Your missus is still dancing inside
Where'd you go?
Can you feel the drip in the lies?
I'm coming up easy, don't care if she sees me
I need you tonight

You know I've been fucked up, crazy
It's been a little heavy lately
But you're the only one who could save me
I know that isn't fair, I know that isn't fair
Why is it my heart is open
Only when the red light's glowing?
But I'll be yours until the morning
I know that isn't fair, I know that isn't fair

Wonder why you're acting surprised
'Cause when you kiss her you know something's missing
You know that it feels different with me
I guess it must be hard for a guy to look her in the eye
When it's me who's giving you what you need

You know I've been fucked up, crazy
It's been a little heavy lately
But you're the only one who could save me
I know that isn't fair, I know that isn't fair
Why is it my heart is open (Why is it my heart is open)
Only when the red light's glowing? (Only when the red light's glowing?)
But I'll be yours until the morning (I'll be yours until the morning)
I know that isn't fair, I know that isn't fair