

Nerve

Joey Dja

Boy you got some nerve
And I really shoulda learned from the first time
Looked on as I burned
Walked away when I turned for ya
When I finally had heard from you you
Said I'm sorry I deserted you
It won't happen again
Boy you got some nerve
And I really shoulda learned from the first time

I was in denial I got lost in your smile
For a while you held me back
Then I remember that time and November, yeah you

You broke my heart
Walked away like it wasn't your fault
Walked away like you
Didn't do, you didn't do a thing, you didn't do
Didn't do, you didn't do a thing, you didn't do

Your demons must be screaming loudly
Your demons must be screaming loudly

Boy you got some nerve
And I really shoulda learned the truth
You said you sorry but I needed more than words from you
It's over now, now I knew it was over
From the first time that I said fuck you
And hit you back to say I love you
And I could try fix it up, baby
I get tired and aggravated, now I'm frustrated
My heart's a piano player like you do
I know I can't let you get to repeating history will drive me insane

I was in denial I got lost in your smile
For a while you held me back
Then I remember that time and November, yeah you

You broke my heart
Walked away like it wasn't your fault
Walked away like you
Didn't do, you didn't do a thing, you didn't do
Didn't do, you didn't do a thing, you didn't do

Your demons must be screaming loudly
Your demons must be screaming loudly

I could be right in your arms
You'd still be out of reach
How did we get like we are
You told her the things you told me
All that I wanted was love
Man I don't deserve what you serve
You got some nerve
I really shoulda learned

You broke my heart

Walked away like it wasn't your fault
Walked away like you
Didn't do, you didn't do, you didn't do a thing
Didn't do, you didn't do, you didn't do a thing