

Just to Hold a Little Hand

John Anderson

Just to hold a little hand and know all the love
Just to see a little smile is the light from above
To know all the answers for all of the questions
Oh what a feeling to hold a little hand

The innocence of the children is what makes the world go around
Oh what a loss to never have loved and miss out on all I've found

Just to hold a little hand and know all the love
To know all the answers for all of the questions

The future is in these little hands and what they decide to do
But it's so hard to make the long long journey
Without big hands to help pull them through

Just to hold a little hand and know all the love
Just to see a little smile is the light from above
To know all the answers for all of the questions
Oh what a feeling to hold a little hand
