

Always True

John Conlee

Sometimes a woman will catch my eye and I might stop but I don't linger
I don't let temptation cover up the ring that's on my finger
I might share a few beers and whisper in a few ears
'Cause I never like drinking alone
But whether I'm stone cold sober or over my limit
I still find my way home

Always true to the one I love
Always true to the promises that bind the two of us
Cause only you can do for me what you've already done
And I will always be true to you just as long as we are one

And good looking women are every man's weakness and I'm no exception at all
But every time I feel I'm faltering I just give my conscience a call
And say please don't let me do this to her and somehow it sees me through
And when I wake up in my woman's arms I just smile and say I love you

Always true to the one I love
Always true to the promises that bind the two of us
Cause only you can do for me what you've already done
And I will always be true to you as long as we are one
And I will always be true to you just as long as we are one
